Three films by David Laing Dawson
Two about art and wellness:

The Brush, The Pen, and Recovery (33min) – about an art studio for people with mental illness and an exhibition of their work in Dawson's Hamilton, ON gallery.

Painting with Tom, David, and Emily (14min) – follows the spirits of outdoor landscape artists Emily Carr, Tom Thompson, and David Milne.

Dr Dawson, a different kind of psychiatrist; a Victoria-born artist, gallery owner, novelist, and filmmaker from Hamilton, ON, will be with us in person to present his films.

and My Name Is Walter James Cross: The Reality of Schizophrenia (53 minutes)

Finding an abandoned theater, a man who lives with SZ occupies the stage alone and recounts his descent into mental illness; what his life is like now, what makes a difference for him, what is comforting, what he's lost.
Created by a psychiatrist who has worked for many years with patients who have schizophrenia and based largely on a particular patient's, now friend's, experience.
- all three rated Pg -
