INTO THE WILD

A young man goes walkabout in America, searching for himself. The film flashes back through a number of people he meets and experiences he finds on his way to the ultimate "wilderness experience" he yearns for. The cracks in the picture of the privileged life he's escaping are gradually revealed. A very rewarding film experience. It's a true story brought to the screen by Sean Penn.

In this case it turns out badly for our protagonist but the story is about the way some people learn - by doing. And it's about families and friendships on the road, the value of taking risks and following a dream. Lots to talk about. 148min 2007 R
