

a century, he draws the false parallel b/w medical + mental "illnesses" & thus comforting his colleagues lest they fear that their enterprise is not "wholly free of risk" or ^{not} validated by "controlled research."

Winding himself up into a crescendo of sanctimoniousness, he ~~reminds~~ recalls psychiatry's role "the protector of the mental health of the people of this ~~area~~ people of Canada + guardian against the practice of quackery within its undoubted field of competence (sic)."

The ~~HPM~~ spread of the HPM "will rebound to the advantage of neither the (psychiatric) profession, nor the people." That equation is taking things a bit too far. Even if by this time the reader can hear the trumpets blaring, it is ^{enlightening} comforting to know that psychiatry is ~~wriggling~~ sufficiently in touch with economic reality to know when to marshal its troops.

Pts I didnt get in

1. P. 527 in HPM there is no provision for acute Ψ ic crises - where is there in +
2. 527 no follow-up after discharge - Quote Wahler (LEPP) This is a joke.
3. Maybe more on problem of HPM - ~~is~~ anti-intellectualism etc
4. { 528 healers, expeditors, group leaders or whatever they may be called }
 { 528 The name may not matter very much }

528. Respond to a number of the vital needs of modern man.

530 - 2 quads

Worry abt Ψ ists being converted to HPM, dropping out of psych → bad for credibility

However defective Ψ ic perceptual apparatus may be in some respects it is enlightening to note that
